Four Pillars Rare Dry Gin

Four Pillars Rare Dry Gin

Established in 2013, Four Pillars Gin is now, without a doubt, the top local gin in Australia, and probably the world's most awarded gin distillery over the past two years. The Four Pillars Distillery, home of Four Pillars Gin, is located in Healesville, Yarra Valley, about an hour's drive from Melbourne city centre. Rare Dry Gin is the original Four Pillars gin, crafted to deliver the best of all worlds: a classically smooth gin that combines Asian botanicals with aromatic Australian citrus. The use of whole oranges is unusual, but the native citrus fruits support spicier botanicals like coriander, cardamom and star anise.

The Tasmanian pepperberry is brilliant on the palate, giving warmth rather than heat, and the lemon myrtle is a beautiful, complex and unique alternative to lemon peel.

Abracadabra

Vecchio Magazzino Doganale (old customs warehouse) is a liqueur factory and a rural farm located in Montalto Uffago, Calabria. Founded by Ivano Trombino, the company specialises in cultivating and selecting botanicals and citrus fruits around Calabria, producing unique and authentic liqueurs. Ivano found his inspiration in the ancient recipes, letters and diaries of his grandfather Egidio. The story goes that in 1871 Egidio, together with three American sailors survived a shipwreck in the Calabrian waters and sought refuge at the Vecchio Magazzino Doganale.

With support of the owner of the farm, Giocondo, the castaway's new lives soon centred around the production of special liqueurs, against a backdrop of wonderful flavours, citrus fruits, spices and herbs. Abracadbra is an ode to the world-renowned Calabrian liquorice, packed full of distinctive flavour. Where other liquorice growers around the world need to supplement the root with additives and sugar, Calabrian liquorice is pure and natural. This gloriously seductive liqueur is based on liquorice that is hand cut and dried in a traditional way. The production process involves an ancestral method of boiling that helps to defibrate the roots in order to weaken them before being squeezed. The roots are then cut into chunks and placed in an alcoholic infusion for 20 days, followed by 50 days of rest in the bottle. Abracadabra's natural color, scent and density make it a unique licorice liqueur.

Falernum

Falernum was invented in Barbados in the nineteenth century, from a mixture of rum, fruit and local spices, to drink as a tonic, simply diluted on ice or to soften rums of the past. After years of experimentation Edoardo Nono and the team of Rita & Cocktails in Milan, together with Memfi Baracco from Compagnia dei Caraibi have created a Falernum able to reach a wide market without losing its primary handmade qualities. In addition to Edoardo's expertise and passion, Caribbean white rum, demerara full proof, ginger, spices, bitter almonds, limes, lemons, and sugar contribute to its production. The Mr. Three & Bros Falernum is deep cloudy yellow in color. On the nose citrus fruit and the fragrant notes of bitter almonds are predominant. Versatile and chameleon-like in mixology – irreplaceable in Tikis, surprising with bitters and in combination with citrus distillations.

Salvia & Limone

Salvia & Limone is an artisanal liqueur, made according to an old, secret recipe dating back to 1837. Commonly used in the Piedmont countryside to aid digestion, the infused drink used to be set in well water to cool on hot summer afternoons, or heated in a water bath during harsher winter months. Pale yellow in colour, it is aromatic on the nose with citrus and sage notes characteristic of the ingredients used in the preparation. It is pleasant, refreshing, sweet and fragrant. Ideal as an after-meal drink, it also offers interesting ideas for blending due to its intense aromaticity.

Also to be used in place of regular limoncello in a variety of delicious serves.

Vecchio Magazzino Doganale (old customs warehouse) is a liqueur factory and a rural farm located in Montalto Uffago, Calabria. Founded by creative entrepreneur Ivano Trombino, the company specialises in cultivating and selecting botanicals and citrus fruits around Calabria and produces unique and authentic liqueurs. Ivano found his inspiration in the ancient recipes, letters and diaries of his grandfather Egidio. The story goes that in 1871 Egidio and three American sailors, one of them Captain Jefferson, survived a shipwreck in the Calabrian waters and sought refuge at the Vecchio Magazzino Doganale. With support of the owner of the farm, Giocondo, the castaway's new lives soon centred around the production of a special liqueur, today known as Jefferson Amaro Importante, against a backdrop of wonderful flavours, citrus fruits, spices and herbs. Jefferson Amaro offers notes of gentian, rosemary, oregano and citrus nuances that give way to sensations of sweet spices in the background. It is soft and smooth on the palate, well balanced, with an herbal finish. The ingredients are processed separately in a water-alcohol infusion, preserving the raw materials and seasonality. This is why the assemblage of Jefferson takes more than 11 months, never resorting to artificial aromas or coloring agents – a linen cloth is the only means used for filtering. Awarded the world's best liqueur at the 2018 World Liqueur Awards.

Godet Peardise

A unique combination of pear essence and Cognac, based on a centuries-old recipe. It blends Cognac with the sweetness of ripe pears that have been aged in French oak barrels to add more depth. It is intended for both mixology and pure enjoyment, making it an excellent liqueur to have on hand to add a sweet touch to your everyday life.

Tasting Notes, Color: Antique gold, Aroma: Surprisingly fresh on the nose, opening with orchard fruits, mingled with a delicate elderflower note, Palate: Round, appetizing, with fine pear notes that develop into a clear, fresh, and expressive finish.

The Godet family traces its origins back to Bonaventure Godet, a merchant of Dutch descent who settled in La Rochelle in the 16th century. Thanks to its strategic location on the Atlantic coast, he began exporting wine and salt. To better preserve the wines, he had them distilled—thus, Cognac was born. This innovation quickly gained popularity, even among royal courts.

Today, five centuries later, the Godet brothers—Jean-Édouard, Maxime, and Cyril—continue the family tradition in the 15th generation. While most modern Cognacs are primarily made from the juice of the Ugni Blanc grape, Godet takes a different approach: they focus on rare grape varieties such as Folle Blanche, Montils, and Colombard to create unique expressions.

Capucana Cachaça

Cachaça is a distilled spirit made from fermented sugarcane juice. It is the most popular spirit among distilled alcoholic beverages in Brazil. Capucana begins with the harvesting of the best sugar canes from three family owned estates in Capuava, St. Lydia & Bertioga situated in Piracicaba, near Sao Paolo, selected to achieve a unique bouquet representing the floral, sweet and mineral properties of the terroir of each estate. After distillation the final blend is a union of non-aged cane distillate and barrel aged cane distillate, from ex bourbon and Islay oak barrels and aged for up to 3 years. Capu

Cana was the name the local workers gave the distillery when it was built in the 19th century and translates as “House of the Canes”. The name is still used within the local community. Capucana is a citrusy style of cachaça that is excellent as a base for cocktails. It has a fresh nose of aloe vera, orange and biscuits. On the palate it has similarities to rum alongside notes of honey blossom and stewed fruit.

Takamaka Rum Blanc

In 2000, Bernard and his father Robert began experimenting with rum production after ordering a book on home distillation. Their interest was inspired by their grandfather René Michel d'Offay, who made the Creole speciality Rum Arrangé by macerating fruits, spices, and botanicals in alcohol for months. Lacking proper equipment, Bernard and Robert improvised with homemade tools, even using their backyard swimming pool as a cooling tower while fermenting supermarket sugar and yeast. Bernard's brother Richard later joined them, and after more than a year of experimentation—producing both poor and promising results—they officially opened Trois Frères Distillery in Seychelles in February 2002 and delivered their first Takamaka dark rum. Over time, Richard and Bernard refined their craft through curiosity, experimentation, and the challenges of operating in the remote Seychelles. It's impacted how they blend and age their rum, it's forged the role they play in their community and it's shaped who they are today as people, and as rum makers.

This no-nonsense, light white rum is the beating heart of all Takamaka rums. A touch of high-ester pot still rum provides a soft, creamy character and natural aromatic undertones typical of this Indian Ocean island. This is a column still molasses based rum distilled up to 94% and then diluted with pure island spring water to bottling strength. This light, tropical rum mixes well in classics such as Mojito, Cuba Libre, Daiquiri or Piña Colada and is best in company of good friends.

Takamaka Dark Spiced

Takamaka Dark Spiced

In 2000, Bernard and his father, Robert, ordered a book on home distillation and set out to make “good” rum. The interest came from Robert’s father, René Michel d’Offay. He made the local Creole speciality Rum Arrangé by soaking fruit, spices, leaves and bark in rum for up to six months, a tradition inspired by sailors.

They had no proper equipment, so they used their backyard swimming pool to cool a homemade condenser. They bought yeast and sugar at the supermarket and started experimenting.

Bernard’s older brother Richard joined them. After more than a year of trials, some questionable and some remarkable, they opened Trois Frères Distillery in Seychelles in February 2002. Soon after, they delivered their first order of Takamaka dark rum.

Since then, curiosity and the challenges of living on remote islands have shaped how Richard and Bernard blend and age their rum. They have also shaped the brothers’ role in the community and who they are as rum makers.

About the rum: Takamaka’s flagship blends white rum with natural essences of vanilla, papaya and tropical spice. Smooth notes of spice, papaya and vanilla sit over caramel, grass and dry oak. It works in cocktails and hot drinks, or served neat.

Highland Park 12 Years Old

Highland Park 12 Years Old

First established in 1798, Highland Park Distillery on Orkney is celebrated for its unique combination of traditional craftsmanship, Viking-inspired heritage, and its island's cool maritime climate. Highland Park 12 Years Old, often considered the heart of the range, showcases the distillery's signature balance of gentle smoke, aromatic honey, and rich malt character. Its reputation as one of Scotland's most consistent single malts has earned it global admiration.

Laphroaig Lore

Described by the distillery as “the richest of the rich,” Laphroaig Lore draws on generations of traditional techniques, passed from distillery managers to their successors since 1815. Lore represents the pinnacle of Laphroaig’s style, created from some of the most characterful casks in the warehouses to deliver profound depth and smoky intensity.
Crafted from a combination of sherry-matured European oak, quarter casks, and older refill casks, Lore layers deep peat, rich sweetness, and mature oak complexity. The varied cask types contribute dark chocolate, coastal spice, dried fruits, and intense smoke, resulting in one of Laphroaig’s most multidimensional expressions.
The nose offers notes of dark peat, sea salt, cocoa, and warm spice. The palate is full-bodied and rich, with flavors of smoky chocolate, roasted nuts, dried fruit, and layered oak. The finish is long, powerful, and deeply smoky, showcasing the full heritage and craftsmanship behind Laphroaig’s boldest whisky.

Micil Earl Island Single Pot Still

Micil Earl Island Single Pot Still

Micil Distillery is named in honour of our great-great-great grandfather, Micil Mac Chearra, who began distilling poitín in 1848 on a Connemara hillside. For six generations and over 170 years our family have preserved the craft, distilling extraordinary spirits made using family recipes, craft knowledge and time-honoured techniques. About the whiskey: A fruity, spicy Single Pot Still Irish whiskey enriched by Bordeaux red wine casks, with hints of soft turf smoke from ex-peated whiskey casks. It pays homage to the great Galway distilleries of the past, and to the Latin wine merchants of old who made the city their home. Exceptional because the red wine finish from the ex-Bordeaux casks imparts an incredible depth of rich fruit and spice to the spirit, enhancing the soft spice and ripe barley character of the pot still whiskey. Tasting notes: Micil Earls Island has wondrous spice notes, full of boiled sweets, apple drops, touches of maraschino cherries and slightly tart redcurrants and rhubarb. There's copious spice, cinnamon and nutmeg, along with marzipan and toasted nuts. Delightfully moreish.

Godet XO Terre

Beautifully presented, this striking round ceramic decanter is cut with the form of Atlantic waves, alluding to great seafaring expeditions and Godet's maritime culture. And that's before we even mention the liquid inside. This blend of six cognac wines (Grand Champagne, Bon Bois, Fins Bois, Petite Champagne, Bois Ordinaires and Borderies) may be unconventional but these have been specifically selected for the finest eaux de vie matured in oak barrels for between an astonishing 10 and 30 years. The slow aging in oak barrels imparts an all-natural, luminous golden hue with deep mahogany reflections. A blend of fresh, floral and fruity flavours bursts into aromas of cinnamon and spice whilst on the palate, there's a fusion of sharp, vibrant fruit flavours with overtones of leather, oak and pepper.

All of Godet's expertise has gone into this complex and powerful single decanter, symbolising their quest for absolute perfection and you might just agree that they have found it. Only a few dozen barrels are bottled each year, so to try this outstanding cognac be sure to grab one while you can.

Copenhagen Sparkling Tea BLÅ Organic

Founded in 2017 in Copenhagen, Sparkling Tea embodies a fusion of Nordic innovation and Asian tea heritage. A hand-crafted and organic sparkling beverage. The Sparkling Tea category originated in 2010, created by award-winning sommelier Jacob Kocemba during his time at a Michelin-starred restaurant in Copenhagen, Denmark. He realised the many possibilities within the world of tea, when he couldn't find a matching wine for a dessert, despite a wine cellar of more than 1,700 wines. Instead, the solution came in a homemade tea extract, which consisted of a blend of different exclusive teas. The new drink became a great success and a favorite amongst the guests of the restaurant. To live out the dream of making Sparkling Tea a new global beverage category, Jacob partnered up with Bo Sten Hansen in 2017. The two founders have since the beginning shared the dream of producing the world's best sparkling non-alcoholic beverage because everyone deserves a good glass of sparkling! About the tea: Grapejuice and 13 tea varieties. BLÅ starts out with delicate aromas of Jasmine, chamomile and a hint of citrus. This is followed by a round taste from the careful selection of white teas and accompanied by good complexity and depth from the green teas. It ends in a long finish joined by comfortable tannins created by the Darjeeling First Flush. The colour is light green with yellow nuances.

Champagne Aspasie Brut Réserve

Heir to a long line of Champagne winemakers, Paul-Vincent Ariston and his wife Caroline perpetuate two centuries of wine-making tradition in Brouillet, a village in the Vallée de l'Ardre, west of Reims. A notarial deed, dated January 13, 1794, attests to this. For five generations, the family has cultivated the art of the vine and perpetuates a unique know-how, rich in experiences, gestures and passions handed down day after day. Although the farm has evolved over time, borrowing from modernity elements of progress and dynamism, each of these contributions has been integrated with the utmost vigilance and with respect for the fundamental values of the House: demand for quality and fidelity to tradition. Champagne Aspasie is certified HVE (High Environmental Value) and VDC (Sustainable Champagne Viticulture) and has been converting to Organic Agriculture since 2022. As an ambassador for its region, Maison Aspasie operates 12 hectares of vineyards, of which the "Old Vines" of almost 30 years make up the majority. About the wine: Mix of two different crus with reserve wines, whose proportion may vary depending on the year. Bright golden colour with lemon yellow reflections. Delicate and bright bubbles. Floral nose with hints of hawthorn, acacia and orange flowers. The palate is soft and fresh with a minerality of sand and limestone that gives a certain delicacy and salty structure. It is a champagne that offers an extraordinary bouquet of white flowers.

Iconoclaste Blanc Cuvée Arthur

Nestled in the beating heart of Villars-Fontaine, in Burgundy's mystical Hautes-Côtes de Nuits, our maison whispers tales of yesteryear. This is where Arnaud, our master winemaker transforms high-altitude organic bounty into liquid poetry. Arnaud Boué created the Maison in 2018, without a family estate or winegrowing heritage. Starting from scratch, he established himself as a négociant-vinificateur, with the determination to vinify the great terroirs of the Côte de Nuits with precision and sincerity. The Iconoclaste cuvée was born of an idea that's off the beaten track in Burgundy: blending. In our region, which has become a master at promoting terroir and parcel-based vinification, this practice is not widely used in small-scale structures. But what if the blending of different terroirs coud produce a great wine? Each contributing its own minerality, richness and freshness. Appellation Coteaux Bourguignons. About the wine: Static cold settling for 24 hours, followed by fermentation in stainless steel vats. Aged 18 months without stirring, including 12 in old barrels. Gentle filtration and bottling according to the lunar calender. Tasting notes: The nose is rich, with exotic fruit and floral notes that add complexity. The palate is rich, full-bodied yet fresh, with a saline finish typical of aligoté. Grapes: 60 % Pinot Blanc 40 % Aligoté.

Domaine Boisson nestles in Provence, in the south of France, between the Rhône and Ventoux. Régis and Bruno Boisson produce great terroir wines combining finesse and power in the heart of the Côtes du Rhône villages. Wine growing since the 1950's. At Domaine Boisson, the spirit that guides the choices of culture lies in the conviction that the grape is the crucial point of the wine. The vines are cultivated in Organic Agriculture (Certification in 2020), the soils are plowed, manual work accompanies the vines throughout the year. Maison Foucher Sauvignon Petit Le Mont

Maison Foucher was established in 1921 at the heart of the Centre Loire vineyard, between Pouilly-Fumé and Sancerre, by the dynamic Paulin Lebrun. Originally a cooper, he started growing his business by selling wine in his own barrels to local cafés and restaurants. Over the past century, only five winemakers have been at the head of Maison Foucher. Their common desire was to pass on their values and passion. Today, this strong legacy is embedded in the wines of Maison Foucher and is represented by the current director Marc Vappereau. About the wine: To find a precise and natural expression of Sauvignon Blanc, with all that is simple and joyful about this grape variety, while at the same time preserving the links with its origins, those fine terroirs found in the most continental parts of southern Touraine. Such was the thinking behind the development of ‘PetitleMont”. This balanced wine has subtle fruity aromas with elegant freshness.

Mastinell Cava Brut Real Gran Reserva

Mastinell Cava Brut Real Gran Reserva

Mastinell was founded in 1980 as a small family-run winery, nestled in the heart of the Penedès region (DO Cava), in an exceptional location sheltered by the Sant Pau mountain, which protects it from northern winds and provides a mild microclimate. At Mastinell, we take pride in working with the most representative native varieties of our region, such as Macabeo, Xarel·lo, Parellada, Trepat, Monastrell, Malvasia de Sitges, and Sumoll, which have been part of our winemaking tradition since time immemorial. Our approach also includes international varieties such as Chardonnay, which adds additional freshness and complexity to some of our cavas and wines. At Mastinell, organic viticulture is more than a practice; it is a philosophy rooted in respect for the land and the environment.

About the wine: The Brut Real's success is based on three high-quality grapes grown on half-century old vase-trained (gobelet) vines. The grapes are individually inspected during manual harvest. They are lovingly laid in small crates before undertaking their short journey to the atmospherically controlled pressing room, where the grapes are scrutinized once more to safeguard the grape and its quality, and then the whole cluster is pressed. Each variety is vinif ied separately. Before fermentation, the must is clarified naturally via sedimentation.

Today his daughters Andrea and Aïda, have joined the family project, bringing a fresh perspective.

A week before the harvest, a pied de cuve was prepared in the vineyard, letting the wild yeast reproduce. When the grapes entered the winery, they were left in contact with their skins at a low temperature for 24 hours. Afterwards, they were pressed and the pied de cuve was added. The fermentation was carried out in French oak barrels, and when the alcoholic fermentation finished, the malolactic fermentation started spontaneously. The wine was aged in barrel for four months with frequent bâtonnage (lees stirring). Before bottling, the wine was clarified and lightly filtered, therefore sediments may remain.

Tasting notes: Honeyed yellow fruit leads on the nose, alongside hints of hawthorn and delicate blossom. The palate is creamy and mouth-coating yet retains impressive focus and freshness. Deeply textured, complex and very long on the finish.
